Columbus Park Foundation and the Columbus Parks & Recreation Department are excited to announce that Race2Play has been endorsed by the Indiana Bicentennial Commission as a Legacy Project. Race2Play is just the beginning of a community effort to make all the spaces where kids live, work and play GREAT spaces. The project was deemed open and accessible to the public, fundable and achievable as an impactful contribution to Indiana's legacy. It met the recommended goals or characteristics and was identified as being culturally inclusive, creating a lasting legacy and being engaging and inspiring to youth and young adults.

We are honored to join with the Commission and its partners in celebration of Indiana's proud historical legacy while collaborating to ignite our state's future for the next 100 years.

Race2Play was also recognized this year by the Indiana Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatricians. Their mission is to improve the health of children in the State of Indiana including collaborating with groups to tackle important issues such as childhood obesity. They noted the goals of the Race2Play project aligned with their objective to improve the health and well-being of children. It is rewarding to be recognized for the project and its benefits.
